Harvey Hartman
B.S.B.A. 1971

Founder, Chairman and CEO
The Hartman Group

With a penchant for seeing what others cannot, Harvey Hartman received national recognition in America for accurately predicting the shifts in consumer behavior that would drive the sustainability, wellness and organic movements into mainstream prominence across the food and beverage marketplace. He is an author, business school lecturer and former Fortune 500 senior executive. His passionate belief in a consumer-driven marketplace paved the way for the Hartman Group to become synonymous with providing unique provocative consumer perspectives of measurable value to clients. Harvey has authored four marketing texts, the most recent being A Brand Called Hope: Reimagining Consumer Culture, which explores food culture and today’s consumer-driven interpretations of quality.

Patrick P. Lee
B.S.A.E. 1959

Founder and Chairman
Integrated Dynamics and Patrick P. Lee Foundation

An inventor and engineer, Patrick P. Lee used his business savvy and leadership skills to create International Motion Control (IMC), now a worldwide manufacturing conglomerate with a network of over 300 independent distributors. Patrick formed The Patrick P. Lee Foundation, a charitable organization dedicated to promoting awareness through education and research. Based on strong philanthropic values and a passion for community outreach, the foundation aligns itself with organizations that share the same passion. In 2007, Patrick sold IMC, using the majority of the assets to honor and grow The Patrick P. Lee Foundation and its mission to serve a world in a constant motion.
James Haglund
M.S.R. 1975
Vice President
War Memorial Hospital

Dr. Jim Haglund was born and raised in International Falls, Minnesota. His career included time in Portland, Seattle, San Francisco, Des Moines, St. Louis, Minneapolis, and Sault Ste Marie, Michigan. Jim’s responsibilities encompassed a variety of clinical and administrative roles including Vice President of War Memorial Hospital and Western Regional Vice President for Associated Health Focus. He was instrumental in developing one of the largest rehabilitation facilities in the Upper Midwest.

Tiffany Denyer
B.S.N. 1996
Founder and President
Wilderwood Service Dogs

After a 13 year career in psychiatric nursing, Tiffany Denyer sought a treatment model with higher efficacy. In 2005, she founded Wilderwood Service Dogs, which trains service dogs for individuals with neurological disorders.

Tiffany grew Wilderwood from a volunteer staff to six paid employees and an amazing group of volunteers and places an average of 12 service dog teams per year across the US. Tiffany is involved in ground breaking research on the effects of service dogs on children with autism and was intricate in establishing access laws in Alabama, North Carolina, Illinois and Tennessee and continues to play a role in policy setting.
Bob Fox
M.B.A. 1976
Chairman
Casa de Salud

Success, service and St. Louis are three key areas that help define the life of Bob Fox. Embracing the spirit of entrepreneurial vision, in 1984 he founded NewSpace Closet Interiors – the first of its kind in the St. Louis area. A commitment to community and the Saint Louis University ideal of serving others, Bob and his wife, Build-a-Bear founder Maxine Clark, established a foundation to support areas vital to regional prosperity and growth in the St. Louis area. From a cardiac intensive care unit at Children’s Hospital to a host of educational institutions and the St. Louis Zoo Foundation Board, Bob’s caring spirit shines through.

In 2009, Bob responded to a community need for a health and wellness center serving new Hispanic immigrants, by founding Casa de Salud, a collaboration between existing community health providers, Saint Louis University, Washington University and 40 other community agencies.
