Hi Suzy,

Do I have to sign up for Deferred Payment Every Semester?

Yes, Oui, Si, Ja, Aye,
Saint Louis University takes pride in being a “Best Buy” college according to U.S. News & World Report. The John Cook School of Business is committed to educational excellence in the Jesuit tradition. This commitment is validated by our scholarship programs that have been created to recognize academic excellence and to make Saint Louis University affordable.

Saint Louis University Graduate Business Tuition

The Saint Louis University Graduate Business Program at the John Cook School of Business has developed a variety of scholarships and aid packages to help assist students with the cost of financing their graduate business degree(s). Following are the three main categories in which students may gain assistance in paying for their education.

- Federal Financial Aid
- Scholarships
- Tuition Deferrment Options
More About Deferred Payment

Boeing employees have a different program, please contact Carolyn Merkel (merkelcm@slu.edu)

Saint Louis University employees receive tuition remission, not reimbursement, so they do not apply.

This program is exclusive to graduate business students
Hi Suzy,

About this immunization form…..

Hi Suzy,

What is Common Break?

A) An event hosted by the Masters’ Programs Office the last full week of the month
B) An opportunity to network with other graduate business students
C) FREE FOOD!!!

It is all the above. The first Common Break is the week of February 25.
Hi Suzy,
What if I need to Drop a Class?
