Nora Madjar

Nora Madjar is an Associate Professor of Management at the University of Connecticut School of Business. Her main expertise is creativity in the workplace and her research has contributed to a better understanding of the social and contextual factors that stimulate or hinder creative performance, and different ways to structure jobs to facilitate creative work. She has multiple articles on creativity published in the Journal of Applied Psychology, Journal of Management and Academy of Management Journal, among others. Professor Madjar teaches courses including “managing creativity and innovation”. In 2011 Professor Madjar was a Fulbright Scholar in Bulgaria. She received her Ph. D. in Business Administration from the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign.