Each competitive scholarship has specific criteria used in determining which applicant is most qualified to be the award recipient. When completing the scholarship application, please keep these guidelines in mind.

Center for Supply Chain Management Studies Scholarship
Through the Center for Supply Chain Management Studies (CSCMS), up to two scholarships, up to $5,000 each, are available to full-time students who wish to pursue the Supply Chain Management area of emphasis. A CSCMS scholar has plenty of opportunities to visit/interact with many board members of the Center, who are in a position to advise a career path in management in general and supply chain management in particular at leading companies in the region.

In addressing the questions on the application, the applicants need to outline how their interest and education in supply chain management will help fulfill future career goals. This scholarship is paired with a Graduate Assistantship in the Center, which requires working up to 10 hours per week during the fall and spring semesters for $15 per hour.

International Business: Boeing Institute of International Business Scholarship
Through the Boeing Institute of International Business, one scholarship for $2000 is available to a full-time MBA student who wishes to pursue an emphasis (based on available electives) in International Business and participate in the outstanding programs and events of the Institute. Students of all backgrounds are qualified to apply for the scholarship.

In addressing the questions on the application, the applicants need to outline their reasons for being interested in this scholarship and how they may both contribute to the Institute and benefit from the experience. This scholarship is paired with a Graduate Assistantship in the Institute, which requires working up to 10 hours per week during the fall and spring semesters for $15 per hour.

Leadership through Service Scholarship
The Leadership through Service Scholarship is awarded to a full-time MBA student, who has demonstrated an exceptional record of leadership and service in education, business, and/or the community. The student selected for the Leadership through Service Scholarship will receive a scholarship in the amount of $2,000.

In addressing the questions on the application, the applicants need to outline their reasons for being interested in this scholarship and how they may both contribute to and benefit from the experience. This scholarship is paired with a Graduate Assistantship in the Graduate Business Programs office, which requires working up to 10 hours per week during the fall and spring semesters for $15 per hour. The main focus of the assistantship is to get graduate business students involved in service leadership opportunities and to provide student leadership to the Graduate Business Student Association (GBSA). Other duties may be assigned as deemed appropriate.

Social Justice Computing and Special Projects Scholarship
The Social Justice Computing and Special Projects Scholarship is awarded to a full-time MBA student, who has demonstrated a clear understanding of computer technology as well as a record of community service. The student selected for the Social Justice Computing and Special Projects Scholarship will receive a scholarship in the amount of $1,000.

In addressing the questions on the application, the applicants need to outline their reasons for being interested in this scholarship and how they may both contribute to and benefit from the experience. This scholarship is paired with a Graduate Assistantship in the Service Leadership office, which requires working up to 20 hours per week during the fall and spring semesters for $15 per hour. The focus of the assistantship is: 1) Advising the Social Justice Computing Student Committee – a group that collects used computers, installs the Linux Operating System, and delivers the computers to youth in the Mid-town St. Louis area; 2) Assist the Manager of Leadership Programs with specific projects including, but not limited to, reviewing Service Leadership applications, organizing the annual Service Leadership spring break trip, organizing the annual Service Leadership retreat, developing and maintaining relationships with service site liaisons, and organizing the monthly service series.
